

TREATMENT

“We can get more people into treatment, we can get more people out of the cycle of addiction by having honest conversations about what substance use does to people in our communities and then having a system where recovery is attractive. We need to be cheerleaders. We need to show them that this is a highly treatable, highly survivable disorder and that recovery is real, available, and attainable.”

Marshall Smith

What do you think can be done to make treatment more appealing?

---

---

---

Who in society can help people with addiction seek treatment?

---

---

---

What did you learn from Marshall Smith’s comments?

---

---

---