

DETOX CLINIC

As a result of the increase in drug-related deaths, some provinces believe that parents should have the right to "force rehabilitation" as an alternative to stop their son's or daughter's addiction. In other words, a parent may send their child to a "detoxification clinic" even if it is against their child's wishes. Complete the following chart and decide if you agree or disagree.

A parent may send their child to a detoxification clinic against their child's wishes.

Positive reasons about this approach

Negative reasons about this approach

Based on the information listed above, I would _____ (agree/disagree) to a parent sending their child to a detoxification clinic against their child's wishes because of the following reasons:

